Description

Meet Sokai, a beautifully maintained 60ft traditional stern narrowboat, built in 1997 with both the hull and fit-out by Dave Clark. Lovingly cared for by her current owners, Sokai offers a comfortable and characterful home afloat, ideal for cruising adventures or relaxed weekends on the waterways.

Powered by a Beta Tug engine with John Deere gearbox, she provides a dependable cruising experience. Inside, the well-appointed accommodation combines practical features with plenty of storage throughout.

The galley is equipped with a gas oven and hob, fridge, washing machine and a good selection of storage cupboards, making life on board both convenient and comfortable. The welcoming lounge provides a lovely space to relax, with a pull-out sofa bed offering the potential for additional sleeping accommodation.

The master bedroom features a comfortable double bed, wardrobe and radiator, while the bathroom includes a shower cubicle, sink and cassette toilet.

Sokai is currently described as offering two berths, although the pull-out sofa bed means she could comfortably accommodate up to four berths, depending on requirements.

A charming and well-kept narrowboat with plenty of character, Sokai is ready to offer her new owners many more adventures on the waterways. As her owners say, she's been kept in lovely condition – “spending our kids' assumed inheritance” – so perhaps it's time for someone else to continue the fun!
