Description

Wooly Back is a beautifully crafted 60ft traditional stern narrowboat built by the highly respected S.M. Hudson in 2004. Renowned for their exceptional build quality and distinctive styling, Hudson boats are among the most sought-after narrowboats on the waterways, and Wooly Back is a fine example of their craftsmanship. Combining traditional character with modern liveaboard comforts, she offers spacious and practical accommodation for up to five people, making her equally suited for extended cruising, residential use, or leisurely weekends afloat.

Stepping aboard, the boat immediately showcases the rich detailing and timeless charm associated with traditional narrowboat design. At the stern, the authentic boatman's cabin provides both character and functionality, featuring a traditional convertible cross-bed arrangement, a Premier stove, fold-down table, and beautifully crafted period detailing throughout. This versatile space offers additional sleeping accommodation while preserving the heritage feel that enthusiasts admire.

The well-appointed galley is both stylish and practical, fitted with attractive oak worktops, tiled splashbacks, a ceramic sink with drainer, and a Thetford four-burner hob, oven, and grill. Modern conveniences include an Inlander fridge/freezer and a Candy washing machine, while ample cupboard and drawer storage ensures there is plenty of space for provisions and everyday essentials.

The comfortable saloon creates a welcoming heart to the boat, centred around a Morso solid fuel stove that provides warmth and ambience throughout the seasons. Built-in storage cupboards and shelving offer practical storage solutions, while a TV cabinet and television provide entertainment for evenings onboard.

A versatile L-shaped dinette provides an ideal space for dining and socialising and can be converted into an additional berth when required, allowing Wooly Back to comfortably accommodate up to five people.

The master bedroom offers a peaceful retreat, featuring a fixed double bed, wardrobe, dressing table with mirror, overhead storage lockers, bedside cupboards, and dedicated reading lights. Thoughtfully designed storage throughout ensures comfortable long-term living or extended cruising.

The bathroom is well equipped with a wash basin set within a vanity unit, a Sealand Traveller drop-through pump-out toilet, a spacious shower cubicle with glazed screen, useful storage cupboards, and a heated towel rail, providing all the comforts of home whilst afloat.

Powered by a reliable Lister HRW3 engine, Wooly Back combines dependable performance with classic Hudson elegance. Rich in character, beautifully presented, and equipped for comfortable living, she represents a rare opportunity to acquire a distinctive traditional narrowboat from one of the most respected builders on the waterways.
